combined to make the greatest collection of dahlias.

GREETINGS

We thank all who have helped to make our dahlia business a success. We shall continue to serve you as in the past, by giving you the best dahlias we can produce at reasonable prices.

Due to the war, shortage of labor, etc., we cannot at this time give you all the advantages of our great combination of dahlia gardens.

We believe that a few moments relaxation spent from time to time with your flowers will enable you to greater effort to help win the war.

We cannot promise quite as good service as formerly but believe that we can fill all orders satisfactorily.

TERMS

Orders close June first

Orders under $1.00 add ten cents for postage

Orders over $1.00 are mailed free when fully paid

C. O. D. orders have the extra charges added

Orders on hand will be mailed about May 10 unless otherwise instructed.

Be sure to add two or three dahlias to your order for a second choice should we be sold out of some kinds.

We will in no case be responsible for an amount greater than the purchase price.

GUARANTEE

All dahlias are field grown, guaranteed true to name and to leave our cellar in good growing condition. Dahlias damaged in the mails or not as labelled will be replaced free. Immediate notice must be given of damage.

All dahlias are labeled with name except collection as stated.

We sell six of a kind for the price of five and give discounts on large orders.

Commercial growers, send for wholesale list. Letter head or card must accompany request.

OUTSTANDING DAHLIAS

The following dahlias were outstanding at our gardens during the blooming season of 1942, some for their abundance of wonderful blooms, some for the flowers produced for bouquets and all for strong healthy plant growth and vitality. Some are recent introductions, others are old but unsurpassed for their fine qualities.

DECORATIVE

ARELDA LLOYD—ID	A huge rich yellow Jane Cowl. The plant is strong and sturdy, medium tall and flowers very freely. Good to cut for bouquets	$.75
CHEMAR'S S R C—ID	The flowers are medium to large, a dark cherry maroon. Large, strong, tall plants, extra long, strong stems. Blooms early and continuous, an excellent flower for cutting	.50
CURLEY LOCKS—ID	One of the largest of blooms, apricot, tinted with gold. The plant is medium tall, with heavy dark green foliage. Medium long, strong stem.	.60
ERNESTINE WRIGHT—FD	Huge round blooms, nearly white, suffused lavender pink. Strong stems hold the heavy blooms at a graceful angle. Very strong, spreading plant, many blooms.	.75
F. D. ROOSEVELT—ID	The large flowers are a delightful spectrum red, edged fawn. Strong plants with very sturdy stems hold the blooms erect.	1.00
GRACE CURLING—ID	The huge blooms are a clear soft pink, towards orchid. The tip of each petal is notched, giving a very pleasing effect. Tall, strong plants, dandy long, strong stems.	.50
HUNT'S VELVET WONDER—ID	The first bloom comes in a crotch and is extremely large, a rich deep violet purple color. Medium tall, heavy plants.	.50
INCANDESCENT—ID	The very large flowers are a rich, rosy buff color. Plant habits the same as Jane Cowl, tall, strong and spreading.	1.00
JEAN KEEFER—FD	The flowers are large, a rich, rosy pink. Each petal is notched, giving a very shaggy effect. Medium tall, fine plant. An unusual dahlia	.75
JANE COWL—ID	An old time favorite, that cannot be beaten. An immense bloom borne high on the best of stems, strong, tall plant. Color, blends of salmon, gold and buff, which vary in different plants.	.35
JERSEY'S BEAUTY—FD	Another old time favorite. A lovely clear pink flower of medium size, borne on the best of long stems and tall plants. None better cut.	.35
KEMP'S ROYAL PURPLE—FD	A new and very distinctive dahlia. The plant is tall, straight, and a very beautiful light green color. The flowers are large, very even, and smooth. The color almost a royal blue, is different.	2.50
KING OF PURPLES—FD	The huge blooms are a rich, dark purple-red, held very high on extra good, long, strong stems. The plants are tall, strong, and spreading. Blooms early, freely, and continuously. Truly a king of flowers	1.50

CULTURAL SUGGESTIONS

Dahlias are very hardy and will grow under a large variety of conditions. There are, however, certain conditions under which they will grow best and attain their grandest perfection.

Planting should be done any time in May up to the first part of June. Prepare the garden well, dig holes four to six inches deep and lay the dahlia root flat, partly fill in hole and scatter a small handful of a good potato fertilizer around and rake in. The holes should be two to four feet apart, depending upon amount of space you have.

Select a place away from shade if possible, for dahlias like lots of sunshine. Good drainage is also helpful.

Dahlias do not need much fertilizer, a little animal manure or commercial fertilizer spread over the ground and spaded in as for all garden plants is essential and very small amounts spread around the dahlia from time to time is all that is needed.

Cultivate frequently during the growing season and add a small handful of fertilizer in a ring around each plant from time to time, raking it in well, several inches from the stalk. Fill in the hole little by little as you cultivate. If the season is extremely wet, it will be well to "hill" the now large plants. If the weather is extremely dry a good heavy soaking once in ten days to two weeks will help, however, a light sprinkling is more harmful than good.

It is well to drive a stake by each hole before planting to support the dahlia when it is large and heavy.

Insect pests are a nuisance with dahlias as with nearly every other kind of flower plant, but they will often survive heavy infestations. Frequent spraying of poison for chewing insects will be helpful. Nicotine sprays for plant lice, although plant lice do not seem to hurt the plant much.

Digging should be done after frosts have killed the plants to the ground. Use a heavy spading fork, shake off surplus earth, cut stem an inch or two from the clump using heavy pruning shears or other suitable tool. Do not dry the clump, but pack clumps tightly together, upside down in a box and store in a cool moist place. Do not let them freeze.
